Background:
CalFresh households (HH) are entitled to various deductions when determining their net income eligibility and benefit allotment.

Purpose:
There has been no change in policy. This section is being updated due to sunset review.

Policy:
All HHs are eligible to the standard deduction. HHs with earned income are eligible to the earned income deduction in addition to the standard deduction.

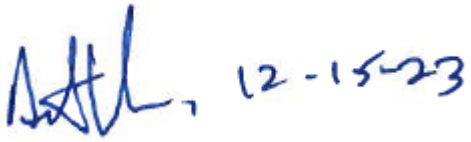

The standard deduction amount varies based on the HH size. Ineligible HH members will not be included in the HH size when assigning the standard deduction. For current standard deduction amounts refer to Section 63-1101.

The earned income deduction is equal to 20 percent of the HH's gross monthly earned income. If a HH has self-employment income, the earned income deduction will be calculated after the allowable self-employment expenses are deducted.
