Effective Date:
January 1, 2024

Background:
Employees in California are required to be paid the minimum wage as required by state law, with certain exemptions. The current California minimum wage is $15.50 per hour.

Purpose:
To inform eligibility staff of the increase in the statewide minimum wage and its impact on CalWORKs, CalFresh, Employment Services, CalFresh Employment and Training, and General Relief Work Project assignment and credit.

Policy:
Effective January 1, 2024, the California minimum wage will increase to $16.00 per hour. Refer to CalWORKs Program Guide (CPG) 44-270.F and CalFresh Program Guide (CFPG) 63-282 for guidance on Prospective Budgeting and Reasonably Anticipated Income. See General Relief Program Guide (GRPG) 90-700.8 for General Relief Work Project assignment and credit.

Procedure:
CalWORKs and CalFresh Programs
Individuals are expected to report income reflecting the minimum wage increase beginning in the SAR 7 data month of January 2024 or Redetermination/Recertification/Renewal (RRR) month of February 2024.

Customers are required to report mid-period when their income exceeds their Income Reporting Threshold (IRT). If the customer reports a pay increase prior to January 1, 2024, use current reporting regulations to determine when the change of income should be used in the budget. Refer to CPG 44-270.G and CFPG 63-283 for further guidance on Mandatory Mid-Period Reports and refer to CPG 44-270.H and CFPG 63-284 on Voluntary Mid-Period Reports.

Employment Services
Employment Case Managers (ECMs) must perform the Simplified CalFresh Program (SCFP) calculation to determine the maximum number of hours that a participant can be required to participate in a Work Experience (WEX) or Community Service (CS) assignment. ECMs must continue using the minimum wage of $15.50 when completing such a calculation through December 31, 2023. Refer to CPG 10-050.A and CalWORKs Processing Guide No. 10-050.A1 for further guidance.

General Relief Work Project
The Work Project assignments are determined by dividing the net grant by the federal or state minimum wage, whichever is higher. As the current California minimum wage is higher than the federal minimum wage, staff must use the new California minimum wage for the number of Work Project days assigned for January 2024 and ongoing.

For example: A single employable customer living alone with no income and receiving Medi-Cal will receive the maximum General Relief grant of $596 ÷ $16.00 = 37.45. The customer will be assigned 32 hours and the remaining time will still show as an amount owed to the county when the case closes.

The credit for Work Project hours completed is determined by multiplying the number of hours worked by the current federal or state minimum wage, whichever is higher.

For example: Using the example above, the customer worked 32 hours each month. 32 hours x $16.00 = $512 repaid.

Please refer to Attachment A for a reference table of the number of Work Project days to be assigned based on the corresponding General Relief grant amounts.
